XIĀNG

Do you know what it's like to believe you're going to die? I know you probably think I'm just feeling depressed. But I genuinely believe I'm going to die because I've seen the face of evil. I know he will end my life as I know it, and perhaps end it forever. I don't deserve to die this way, and certainly not at this time. I have too much to live for— a husband and a small baby who needs me. But evil doesn't care. What should I do? How do I fight this? Evil isn't just a person or a thing; it is a terrifying remnant of the horrible things that have happened throughout history. Why must I pay the price for something I did not do?
